PROTECTING OUR ENVIRONMENT AT HOME AND ACROSS CANADA

Flood protection company offers portion of each sale to the Nature Conservancy of Canada

(STRATFORD, ONTARIO, November 1) – A Stratford, Ontario company that sells temporary flood protection solutions across Canada is contributing a portion of its November sales to a national leader in the conservation of natural areas and biological diversity across Canada.

EHS Sales Ltd. announced today that 5% of November sales of their Triwater Bag will be donated to the Nature Conservancy of Canada.

Suitable for residential use, the Triwater Bag is an easy-to-use system of lightweight yet durable bags that can be filled with water to create a two-foot high flood barrier in minutes.

“This system is environmentally-friendly and fights water with water,” says EHS Sales owner Rob DeGroot. “While we are in the business of protecting and enhancing people’s living and working environments, we want to play a small part in helping to protect our natural environment as well.”

EHS Sales carries a growing number of home improvement products, including FauxRocks and window wells plus a second flood protection product that’s more suitable for commercial and industrial applications.
